SOCIAL AND PERSONAL MUSICAL

The first exhibition concert by John Adam Hugo's pupils at the last evening, was well attended and reflected credit upon their instructor. Miss Edith Bloss played the last part of the Moscheles F major Concerto.

Mr. Wierle the first movement of Mendelssohn's D minor Concerto, and both played with much taste. Little Miss Dorothy Greenstein played Aragonaise by Massenet and played well, as she seems to be a very talented little girl. Chas. McDermott played the last movement of the Hugo Concerto finely and with much temperament. Miss Eugene Still with Mendelssohn's G minor Concerto, and Miss Ella Sanger with the Rondo alla spagnola by Hummel, played with grace and good phrasing.

Miss Ruth Northrup with Hummel's A minor Concerto, and Miss Jennie Herman with Schumann's Concerto, two last movements, displayed their nice touch and brought out the brilliant parts with temperance. Miss Florence Sammis, one of Mr. Hugo's farthest advanced students, played the Berceuse by Chopin with fine musical feeling and the Minuet by Tchaikovsky, excellent. Her beautiful touch and musical interpretation of the different and difficult pieces show her to be a very gifted student. Mrs. Alice Mertens, alto, and Mr. W. Tomlinson, tenor, assisted at this concert and added much to the enjoyment of the evening. Both singers were well known and were in excellent voice. Mrs. Mertens sang an "Aria from Donna Carlotta" by Mercadante; "Annie Laurie," "Ich will's dir pinnen sagen" by Hugo, "An Island" by Furd and sang, them finely, especially good were the Aria and Mr. Hugo's song, which was warmly applauded. Mr. Tomlinson sang "Let Springtime Blossoms Bloom" by Rhiere; "The Morning of the Seas" by Roma; "The Song of the Lark" by Tchaikovsky; "Rose" by Hayden and a well received song by Lohr, "A Little Irish Girl." Mr. Tomlinson sang very well and both singers were warmly applauded.

The work of Miss Jennie Hermann was of particular merit. Her rendering of Schumann's concert of two movements was worthy of the highest praise for the selection is a most difficult one. This evening will be the last recital of the season. Miss Anne Adams and Mrs. E. Hubbard will assist. Tickets (complimentary) can be had at the Sonnenberg Piano Store 1666 Main street.

The closing recitals of the school year of the Bridgeport Musical Institute will be held this evening at 8 o'clock, and on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Rooms 45, 46 and 47, Sanford building. The recital this evening will be that of the vocal students who have been under the instruction of Otto Paul Schubert of New York, while that of Saturday afternoon will be by the violin class of William Haeche and the piano class of Fritz K. G. Weber. The public is cordially invited to attend the recitals. The program for this evening is as follows:

a. St. Saens, My Heart, Miss N. Weber.
b. Wagner, Trauung.
c. Mozart, Don Giovanni, duet, Miss E. Harrington, Mr. T. Driscoll.
d. Cowen, as Swander, Trio, Miss M. Topping, Miss Legge, Mr. Fitch.
e. Luciani, Rondo, duet, Miss Abell, Mr. C. Wheeler.
f. Meyerbeer, Aria de Hugenottes, Mrs. R. B. Merien.

MONAT SENTENCED TO THE CHAIR OFF FOR YALE

(Special from United Press.)
Poughkeepsie, June 28.—Napoleon Monat, of Holyoke, Mass., who was convicted of the charge of wilfully murdering John Kliff, a restaurant keeper at Hopewell Junction, in January, today was sentenced to the chair at Sing Sing prison during the week of August 3. George Conrow, Monat's accomplice, whose trial was taken up this morning, was sentenced when the sentence of death was pronounced. Neither men showed any emotion.

Monat declared on the witness stand in his own defense that he had been hypnotized by Conrow, who, he declared, ordered him to commit the murder of which he was convicted. Monat insisted that he was so completely under the will of his alleged accomplice that he was utterly powerless to resist from the crime.

Policeman Shot By Black Hander

New York, June 28.—Joseph Becker, a policeman attached to the Parkville station, Brooklyn, was shot through the back early today in front of a boarding house on Fifty-ninth street, when he and his partner, William Myers, went to investigate what was variously reported as a hold up, a mysterious shooting and a black hand outrage. The policeman was shot by someone from a window above. Augustine Domichol was convicted, charged with felonious assault. The policeman will recover.

When Becker fell, Myers blew his whistle, and a crowd gathered around the house and took twelve prisoners, some of them women. The police found $1,650 in bills in the stove in the basement. A further search of the mysterious house is being made.

THE PRETTIEST FACE
and the most beautiful hands are offered by a lady who will take away the blemish of the Atlantic from the Lusitania. She was considerably stiffened after her first trip, and is not so supple as her sister ship.

On the Lusitania tomorrow go the officers and crew of the wrecked Slavonia to attend the British Board of Trade Inquiry, which will be held in the Admiralty Court, London. They all feel sorry for Capt. Dunning, who is still on board the Slavonia with Chief Officer Anderson, but they regret still more deeply the Captain's obliging disposition which caused him to take direct course to Gibraltar and pile her on the rocks to gratify the whim of the passengers who had petitioned him to take the "beautiful" ship.

Owing to the crowded state of the saloons the officers of the Slavonia will have to travel across in quarters specially fitted up for them in the steerage of the Lusitania.

New Propellers to Make Lusitania Speedier

New York, June 28.—The Cunard liner Lusitania, which sails tomorrow for Liverpool with her first and second class cabins full, will take up ten days on her arrival on the other side to have her propellers changed.

The two large brass propellers on the high pressure turbines are to be replaced by two smaller ones which, it is hoped, will enable the liner to get away quicker on starting and give her more speed. The manganese bronze propellers that were used once for the Mauretania will be placed on the two low-pressure turbines of the Lusitania.

The new propellers will measure about thirty feet in diameter and cost $10,000 each.

In addition to it is understood that the pitch will be altered by giving the propellers a twist that will get a firmer grip on the water. It is hoped that the Lusitania will leave Liverpool on her next voyage, July 17, she will be able to average twenty-six knots on her passage across, but it is not expected that she will take away the blue ribbon of the Atlantic from the Mauretania. She was considerably stiffened after her first trip, and is not so supple as her sister ship.

On the Lusitania tomorrow go the officers and crew of the wrecked Slavonia to attend the British Board of Trade Inquiry, which will be held in the Admiralty Court, London. They all feel sorry for Capt. TROLLEY STRIKERS WIN IN PITTSBURG

(Special from United Press.)

Pittsburg, June 28.—The street car strike lasted just 50 hours. The final settlement of all difficulties between the Pittsburg Railway Company and the striking motormen and conductors was effected at 10:15 last night, following a conference lasting all day, between Mayor William A. Magee and representatives of the disputing factions.

Early this morning every car on the system started running after a complete tie up of two days. There is no doubt that the employees won their fight. The only concession made by the strikers was the agreement to leave arbitration the final decision in the case of Ashford, the motorman who was discharged for drinking while in uniform. One concession after another in time to get crews to man the cars at five o'clock this morning fell to the officials of the strikers. They started to work at once. Committees of the different local unions scurrying in every direction to notify the men to report for duty and at 5 o'clock all working schedules were resumed.

The victory gained by the striking employees of the Pittsburg Railway Company was the greatest and most decisive ever won in this contest. The organized labor, is the opinion of President W. D. Mahon of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees.

"Every point for which the men contested," declared Mahon today as he appeared fagged out and nervous by his continuous work, "has been conceded which is conclusive evidence that they were right in the position they had taken. The public supported nobly."

President J. D. Callery of the traction company by the agreement signed admits he and his company have been defeated at every point and confines his remarks chiefly to thanking Mayor Magee for his good offices in settling the strike. Thus after a 50 hour strike in which a single car was made to run between Pittsburg and Allegheny Counties, the victorious motormen and conductors are again running cars upon schedule time.

CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought

100 RED MEN TO BE HERE JULY 5

Among the one hundred Indians with the 101 Ranch Wild West Show, which will make its appearance in this city on next Monday, are a score of Osages, popularly known as the aristocrats of all North American redmen. The Osages occupy the northeastern corner of Oklahoma and are the richest people inhabiting this planet. Every one of the 1,833 members of the nation has a cash balance of $4,644 deposited in Uncle Sam's big bank at Washington, drawing 5 per cent. interest. In addition to this they have each 857 acres of land. Oil and mineral deposits on this land bring a tremendous income.

The Osage reservation borders the 100,000 acres of Miller Bros., 101 Ranch in Northeastern Oklahoma. Pawhuska is the capital and trading point. It may be afforded there the incongruous sight of a stalwart Osage, his feet encased in moccasins, his body wrapped in a blanket, his shaven head uncovered, driving into town with his entire family in a comfortable modern carriage. Nevertheless, these Indians remain extremely conservative, many of them living in the old elliptical brush houses. They are famous dancers and horse racers, and during many months of the year gather in camps where dances of many varieties are prolonged far into the night and where they play native games, sing songs of a former age and "smoke away" pipes.

BLUE VS. CRIMSON

Immense Crowd to See Game at Yale Field This Afternoon.

(Special from United Press.)

New Haven, June 28.—All interest in Yale commencement exercises to-day centers around the annual commencement baseball game, which is to be played at 3 o'clock this afternoon on Yale Field between the University nine and Harvard. The students and members of the Alumni, garbed in fantastic costumes, will fill the grandstand and bleachers to lend their voices to aid the efforts of the Yale batteries in downing the crimson. This is the second game of the series and as Harvard has one of the games to her credit, the Yale nine must capture this game in order to break even. If Yale wins the third game of the series will be played in New York on Friday. No tickets will be sold at the gates on account of the great demand that has been made in advance for seats and it is estimated that between 10,000 and 15,000 people will see the game. The line-up of the Yale nine for this afternoon has not been settled as yet, but Harvard will probably have the same batting order as they had in the game against Yale last week. The name of the pitchers is still a matter of conjecture but it is probable that Hicks will start the game for Harvard and Merritt for Yale. The probable line-up follows:

Yale—Fells, ss.; Murphy, cf.; Jefferson, lb.; Logan, 3b.; Badger, 2b.; Maloney, if.; Philbin, c.; Rend, p.; Van Vleet, rf. or p.; Corey, rf.; Merritt, p. Harvard—Lanigan, 3b.; Harvey, cf.; Currier, c.; Simons, ss.; Ironson, rf.; Daya, if.; Briggs, lb.; Hicks, p.; Hartford, p.; McLaughlin, 2b.

Mrs. Ellen McGrath Complains that Her Pocket-book Has Been Stolen.

Horace King, 971 Hancock avenue, has complained to the police that on the morning of circus day burglars entered his house with a key and took a gold hunting case watch, two rings set with stones, a chased ring and a pair of gold mounted side combs.

The police have received the complaint of Mrs. Ellen McGrath of 155 Clarence street, who says that sometime Saturday she was robbed of a pocketbook containing a few dollars.
